

THE FUTURE IS HERS

Technology is dominated by men, featuring Steffania Paola Costa di Albanez

Steffania Paola Costa di Albanez Costa is a visual artist and self-taught developer, working to create safe spaces for women on the internet. This video transcript is part of the Future Is Hers multimedia series, celebrating innovators, risk-takers, and change makers, supported by the Ford Foundation, who have impacted the lives of women and girls around the globe.

Transcript begins.

[on-screen text: Steffania Costa, Ford-Mozilla Open Web Fellow]

[A Latina woman with curly hair and big circular earrings, wearing a pink dress with purple accents, addresses the camera.]

STEFFANIA COSTA: Technology is dominated by men. And so, the products we have, the platforms we have, reflect their values. For example, they are not women, they're not Black women—they are people who don't suffer the same sort of oppression we suffer as women.

[on-screen graphic: Ford Foundation logo]

End of transcript.